County Board Sets Millage For '49-'50

A tentative budget authorizing $2,572,655 in expenditures for 1949-50, an increase of $191,753 over the year ending Sept. 30, was adopted by the County Commission in regular meeting Monday.

An increase of .83 mills over the 10.09 millage of the present year was necessary to raise the budget on the basis of valuations reported by the assessor's office. Millage this year is 10.92, and the increases were reported as due to substantial boosts necessitated in welfare funds.

Included are the county home and hospital, the children's home and the new negro detention home.

The permanent budget is expected to be adopted by the commission in two weeks. No unusual changes were anticipated in the figures submitted to the commission Monday by Assistant County Auditor R. B. McKee.

The figures for operating the various funds for the coming year and this year, and the millage follow:

General fund, 4.95 mills, this year $722,401, last year 3.65, $684,951; Pines and Forests, .85 mills, $160,481, last year, .75 mills, $141,641; General Road and Bridge, 1 mill this year, $476,500; last year, 1 mill, $473,158.

Ocean Blvd., .25 mills, $50,752, this year; last year, .5mills, $100,253; Mothers' Aid, .04 mills this year, $7,155, last year .03 mills, $8,009; Detention Home, this year .52 mills, $72,119, last year, .75 mills, $95,376.

The millage last year was 10.09 as compared to 10.92 this year. Total budget last year was $2,380,902.—Palm Beach Post.

Pahokee Lions To Fence City Park

The improvement and beautification of the Pahokee city park was discussed by members of the Pahokee Lions Club at the Tuesday luncheon meeting.

It was suggested that the city park should be enclosed by an attractive fence, also that the city and local merchants should cooperate in the placing of attractive benches in the park. It was announced the local Garden Club plans to plant shrubs and flowers as part of the beautification program and the Everglades Business and Professional Woman's Club has assumed a project the building of barbecue pits for the convenience of picnickers at the park.

Richard L. Brooks, vice president, presided in the absence of President E. P. Holt. Frank Shaughnessy, new president of the Pahokee Rotary Club, was a visitor.

To Have Or Not To Have Special Meet

TALLAHASSEE—Will the Governor call a special session of the legislature? If so, when? These are the questions everyone is asking. Statements by administrative leaders, bureau heads, school officials and legislators only seem to further confuse the issue.

Cost of governmental operations have been dragged out into the limelight and economy-minded legislators have been stumping the state telling the people that if certain economies are effected all functions of state government can be maintained without the need of additional revenues or a special session. On the other hand equally energetic group warns that unless many additional millions are provided all governmental operations will be severely crippled.

The general opinion is that the governor will issue a call for a revenue raising session some time in August although others contend it will be later.

Representative Leo Wolitzky, chairman of the House Educational Committee, is calling for an immediate session contending that the state cannot make both ends meet with available funds.

Representative Butler Dowda, of Putnam, disagrees and contends that funds now available are ample if expended intelligently and economically.

STATE-WIDE CONTEST

TAMPA — The Tampa Motor Club, recognizing the power of Florida's daily and weekly newspapers and radio stations, will sponsor an annual statewide press and radio contest. It was announced this week by Marvin L. Hobbins, club manager.

Awards will be made to newspapers under various classifications for best editorials, news stories, pictures and cartoons dealing with the subject of highway safety.

When you use the word Coke to define Coca-Cola you are capitalizing it, as "Coke" so used is a registered trade-mark and proper name.

Airport On Bacom Point Is Finished

Construction work is complete on the Palm Beach County-Glades airport on Bacom Point Road near Pahokee, according to County Commissioner Paul Rardin. Cost of the field to date is in the neighborhood of $160,000 with the Civil Aeronautics Administration furnishing around $70,000 of the outlay.

The field on Bacom Point makes the third large airfield owned and operated by Palm Beach County, the other two being Lantana Field and Palm Beach International Airport at West Palm Beach. Operation of the three fields will be under the direction of the Palm Beach County Airport Authority of which Commissioner Rardin and other members of the county board are members. Col. L. B. Hickam is the county aviation director.

Space on the Glades field will be leased to those who wish to build hangars. The hangars will be built to specifications furnished by the county and a nominal charge will be made for the land on which they are to be located. Figures will be available within the next few days for those who wish to rent space and erect hangars.

The entire 250 acre plot of ground on which the airport is located will be fenced by a county crew within the next few weeks, it was pointed out by the airport authority. A small administration building will be put on the field soon and a maintenance man will take charge of keeping the field in proper condition.

Rardin said that plans are being worked out for a grand opening of the airport early in September. Plans call for a big air show with stunt fliers and all the trimmings that go to make a worthwhile day in the history of aviation.

Belcher Oil Company of Miami last week finished retreading Barfield Highway and Larimore Road in Pahokee. Larimore Road was the first road built by Commissioner Rardin and during the war only one coat of rock was available. It was necessary to retreat to save the surface. County forces widened Barfield Highway out to 30 feet and a retreat surface of 24 feet was put on by the Belcher Company. The two roads are now in excellent condition.

Youngster Suffers Fractured Leg

Edward (Little Boy) Fountain, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Myers Fountain of Pahokee, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and minor face cuts in an accident at the city park Saturday night.

Edward is reported to have been standing on a new light pole at the edge of the park and his leg was pinned under the heavy pole when it was struck by a passing car, causing him to lose his balance and it rolled over on him.

After receiving first aid treatment at the local hospital he was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital, West Palm Beach, where his leg, reported to have been broken in four places, was set and placed in a cast.

To Ask Bids For New County Jail July 25

Slightly more than thirty days hence the County Commission is expected to receive bids on a half million dollar jail for which funds have been laid aside for nearly five years.

Whether or not the city and the county will get together on a proposition to eliminate the city bascule has not been definitely settled, but the construction of the jail was authorized by the County Commission Monday.

County Attorney Harry Johnston and County Engineer J. M. Boyd were directed by the commission to advertise for bids, which are expected to be received 30 days thereafter. Engineer Boyd said plans for the construction of the jail are completed and all details will be ironed out shortly.—Palm Beach Post.

No Barbecue Will Be Held Labor Day

The Palm Beach County Resource Development Board of Directors has voted to discontinue its annual Labor Day barbecue but instead to hold a series of membership meetings during September and October in the various areas of Palm Beach County.

Rising cost of feeding and entertaining the rapidly increasing throng of people, many of whom last year came from surrounding counties; consideration for Labor which plans to put on its own program and feed on Labor Day as well as a desire to hold local gatherings in order that the membership may learn more concerning RDE's program and at the same time give each community the opportunity to present to the organization local community needs and problems, prompted the Board's decision.

"Greater emphasis will be placed during the current year upon industrial promotion and service to local community projects," President A. E. Kirkman stated. "We will continue to follow through upon the Water Control program so far successfully sponsored by the organization but many areas need additional help from a powerful countywide organization. Glades roads, a cattle market, on the lake, studies looking to the conversion of raw and waste agricultural products through the development of small industries and attendant payrolls as well as research are vitally needed to assist in a well-rounded countywide economy. More and more money through the tourist trade, agriculture and industry are essential to our progress," Mr. Kirkman, prominent Glades pioneer business man, added.

A simple questionnaire has been prepared seeking from each community its attitude toward new industry, what the area has to offer and seeking all pertinent facts essential to promotion of industrial expansion. Local response to date has been most gratifying.

Walter Fountain, brother of Myers Fountain, has returned to his home in Cordale, Ga., after three months of residence in Pahokee.

Building Perks Up In Pahokee Section

M. P. Holman & Son, insecticide merchants in Pahokee, are building on their lot in the business section. The building is 60 by 70 feet, and will house the Holman business.

The second story will include office space. J. D. Edenfield is the contractor. The building will be ready for occupancy soon.

Other building activities include a $12,000 concrete block home for Mr. and Mrs. Luke Fraser on E. Main st., a $25,000 home for Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Friend, also on E. Main st., and a duplex apartment building in Vetteville subdivision for Mr. and Mrs. Julius Moon. All are of concrete block construction. Gordon Hillier, local contractor is in charge of construction for the Fraser and Moon buildings, and J. R. Pickren is building the Friend home.

Frank Friend, widely known farmer in Pahokee, is opening up a section and half of farm land on Connors highway near Twenty-Mile Bend this summer. Richard Nason is also opening a section adjoining Friend's, and they will install pumps jointly so that one pumping station will take care of both sections.

The land is being cleared, ditched and diked, Nason hopes to have his entire section ready for the fall plantings, but Friend expects to have only half of his ready by fall. The land will be used chiefly for corn, potatoes and celery.

At a meeting of the Pahokee Lions club at the Woman's club building Tuesday, members completed plans for building a fence around the city ball park. They also discussed building tennis courts at the park. The fence will be erected this week with volunteer labor.

The tennis courts will be built in co-operation with the local Rotary club. County workmen have hauled material for the base of the courts, which will be topped with cement.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

(By Russell Kay)

Sneaking away for the holiday weekend, I piled the family in the car and drove to Naples, southernmost resort city on Florida's vividly colorful west coast. Officially, I was visiting Naples as secretary of the Florida Press Association to check on facilities offered for our state convention to be held there next November, but my real purpose was to engage in a wrestling match with some of the mighty denizens of the deep that inhabit Collier County waters in unbelievable numbers.

For a year or more Stuart Rabb, publisher of the Collier County News, has been telling me about these knuckle-busting, tackle-smashing demons. So immediately upon my arrival at the Naples Beach Hotel I called Stuart and much after the manner of General Pershing arriving in Paris said, "Fayette, we are here, where are the fish?"

Well, Stuart made good in a big way. He had Capt. Benton "Dinks" Bogges, world's best guide, with his charter boat "Mc-Chere" ready and waiting for us at the Everglades dock. Winding through the entrancing waterways of the Ten Thousand Islands area, we lolled back in comfortable deck chairs, munching tasty sandwiches and guzzling Coca-Cola and might easily have forgotten why we were there had it not been for the fact that Capt. "Dinks" had crowded fishing rods on us and began trailing shining spoons behind the boat. Mother Nature certainly buried a mass of dynamite in those otherwise peaceful looking waters. You sit there one minute calm and peaceful watching the dive-bombing pelicans and enjoying the scenery and the next minute all hell breaks loose. A big smook, red fish or tarpon clamps down on your trailing spoon, your line whines on a smoking reel and, clutching your bowed rod like a melodrama villain, you are all tremble and bueged watching that fighting "Silver Meteor" break the surface and leap 10 feet in the air shaking his massive head while your rear back to take up the slack. It's no pastime for a guy with a weak heart.

A few hours of this and you're glad to return to the luxurious comfort of the Naples Beach Hotel where you can enjoy a cooling dip in the fresh swimming pool or frolic in the surf. If you want a long tall one, an attendant is waiting to serve you in the beautifully appointed cocktail lounge or on the patio. Then you will really enjoy a before dinner nap and will find calm repose in a room that reflects the spirit of the famed hotel's hospitality.

Meals and service at the hotel are out-of-this-world, and how you can eat after a day of fishing and swimming! A beautifully sporty golf course awaits those who prefer this form of entertainment to the more rigorous fish rodeo, and if you want to loaf you'll find friendly corners all about the place with books and magazines to read. Brisk Gulf breezes to keep you cool and alert attendants eager to provide for your comfort.

Collier County is making elaborate plans to entertain visiting news folks next Fall. While the convention headquarters will be established in Naples, the group will be taken on a tour of the area. The Collier Corporation wants them to see the beautiful city of Everglades and learn of the plans for its expansion and development.

The Humble Oil Company will play host one afternoon and take them on a tour of the rapidly developing oil fields. There will be boating, bathing and fishing parties and those who enjoy shell hunting will be bewildered by the variety of shells found on Naples Beach. Many of the choicest shells in the world famed collections were found at Naples.

But getting back to me and my fishing—Stuart took me out to try for tarpon the hard way with a light casting rod and plug. It was new to me and using a Dalton plug, 18 pound test Norwiche line and my 20th Century Rod which weighs only 7½ ounces and is almost as limber as a fly rod, I snagged on to a baby tarpon and I'm here to tell you it was a thrilling experience. I was mighty grateful to have an underslung line which is free running and anti-backlash for it was a battle royal. They tell me these small tarpon stay in Collier county waters the year 'round so I'm looking forward to another try at them this Fall.

The waters of the canals between Naples, Everglades and Marco team with game fish and a fellow can get into plenty of trouble flipping a plug or snapping a fly in these waters. The tarpon are small, averaging from three to six pounds and occasionally you lash on to a bigger one, but even with a three-pounder on light tackle you have your hands full and will fight for every inch of line and probably wind up with a burnt thumb and battered knuckles.

Naples and Collier County certainly have plenty to offer the vacationist and I'm looking forward

News Notes From State Capital

TALLAHASSEE—The State of Florida this week took nearly all of its money out of savings and put it into the checking account to pay bills during the next couple of months. State Treasurer J. Ed Larson announced that he was withdrawing $14,913,000 from accounts in scattered banks throughout the state. This will leave the State only about $1,000,000 left in the savings accounts built up during the war when manpower and supplies were hard to get and state expenses were low. Much of the money withdrawn from savings is already obligated for expenditures under contracts let months ago. Comptroller C. M. Gay estimates that when he closes the State's books on the current business year only about $10,000,000 will remain unobligated in the general fund. Florida's total wartime surplus once totaled over $50,000,000, but the state has been dipping into this fund heavily since the war ended. Now the state is faced with an appropriations bill of some $240,000,000 and only about $180,000,000 in expected revenue and no wartime surpluses left to make up the deficit as it has in past years.

TALLAHASSEE—Florida will have a new Supreme Court Justice in September 1. Governor Fuller Warren this week appointed B. K. Roberts, Tallahassee lawyer, and his close friend, to succeed Justice Paul D. Barnes. Justice Barnes resigned to accept a position as lecturer at the University of Miami law school. In appointing Mr. Roberts, Warren said: "I regard Mr. Roberts as one of the ablest of Florida lawyers. He has earned the highest professional rating attainable. He brings to the Supreme Court an intimate knowledge of the problems and of the thinking of the present-day practicing attorney." Roberts is considered among the Governor's closest friends and advisors and he actively campaigned for Warren's election. Roberts is the first appointment to the bench from West Florida since the appointment of the late Justice Davis by former Governor Doyle E. Carlton. His appointment runs through the general election of 1950.

TALLAHASSEE—Attorney General Richard Ervin this week advised city and county officials they were bound to observe in municipal elections the new State law against political coercion. He ruled that until the courts rule otherwise "ordinary caution dictates the position" that the law should be followed in city elections as well as in the 1949 legislature provides that "no officer or employee of the State of Florida shall use his official authority to coerce employees under him to interfere with an election, pay any campaign fees, or in any way interfere with the personal rights of said employee." It does not prohibit any officer actively campaigning as a candidate for office.

TALLAHASSEE—Governor Warren's latest announcement on the special session is that it probably won't be until after August 1. Warren previously had said that he didn't think a session could be safely delayed beyond August 1. His last response was in answer to many questions put to him concerning the session by legislators who wanted to make plans for the summer. Warren said for their benefit that he would give them at least two weeks notice unless some further developments arose.

TALLAHASSEE—The state cabinet went through the annual formality of approving budgets of the state's institutions, departments and agencies this week, but to returning in the Fall when the state press gang has its annual get together in this delightful resort community.

In the final analysis everyone found their released expenditures cut 25 percent. This of course is due to the budget commission's recent order limiting all state agencies to only 75 percent of their funds for the next three months. In one major alteration, the cabinet released only $5,250 for salaries and expenses out of the year's $1,250,000 appropriation of state money for work on the $208,000,000 water control project. The cabinet refused all requests for leniency in effecting the cut, saying that if one was expected, others would want the same permission.

TALLAHASSEE—Florida's state mental hospital was forced to release some employees this week to get within the budget commission's 25 percent cut in expenses. Supt. J. H. Therrell of the institution said that unless more money was released for the second quarter of the fiscal year, he would be forced to release additional employees and cut salaries of those that remained.

Flood Control Bd. Members Sworn In

Organization meeting of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD) was held at 10 a. m. Thursday in its new offices in the Cameau Bldg., in West Palm Beach.

The new board members, appointed Saturday by Gov. Fuller Warren, were given the oath of office by J. Alex Arnett, Circuit Court clerk.

In the overall flood control program the EDD is scheduled to become defunct by 1951 and its operations taken over by the FCD.

EDD Chairman Stacy V. Rogers, Mr. Wallis and Atty. Wareing T. Miller returned Sunday morning from Tallahassee and departed in the afternoon for Atlanta to confer with the U. S. Army Engineers on condemnation proceedings.

The FCD project calls for condemnation of 900,000 acres of land for water conservation purposes. These lands, for the most part already considered waste lands, are to the south and east of Lake Okeechobee. Mr. Wallis said the suits will be started within the next 30 to 45 days.

Mr. Wallis also said it is expected the FCD soon will certify a tax levy in the 17 counties in the district of 3-10' of a mill for 1949 to cover legal and engineering expenses in the condemnation proceedings.

Members of the FCD board who were sworn into office are:

Joe S. Earman, Vero Beach citrus grower and farmer, for one-year term; Dave Turner, Fort Lauderdale; Dr. Fred Bartleson, Fort Myers, for three-year terms; Neil J. Hayes, Miami, and Lawrence (Larry) Rogers, Kissimmee, two-year terms. They will serve without remuneration.

Gov. Warren, in making the appointments, said EDD personnel will serve both boards. Thus, Mr. Rogers will be general manager, Mr. Wallis will be secretary-treasurer-engineer, Mr. Miller will be attorney, and Lamar Johnson will be assistant engineer. Other EDD engineering and office personnel also will be in the new picture.

Warren called his appointments a "gesture of hope" that the Legislature will provide money to finance the State's share of the project.

He said he long has favored a sound water conservation program and was gratified when the recent Legislature set up the new district and appropriated $3,250,000 as the State's two-year contribution.

"But I don't think it necessary for me to remind the citizens of Florida that the Legislature, while making the appropriation, did not provide the State's contribution to flood control," he declared.

"Federal funds already are available. The citizens of the 17 counties immediately affected by the project are looking forward eagerly to the start of construction."

"I sincerely hope that their expectations will be realized. I am appointing the administrative board today as a gesture of hope. Everything is ready. It remains only for the Legislature to provide the money," the Governor added.

Mr. and Mrs. Tiny Todd, Mrs. Nola Smith and Miss Kansas Todd will leave today for Mississippi where they will spend 10 days with friends and relatives.

Windy Sure "Stopped The Show!"

The other night a bunch of us were over at Judge Cunningham's watching a swell vaudeville program on his new television set. It came in fine, but just once, the screech got a little streaky.

Before the Judge could touch the knob to bring it into focus, old Windy Taylor starts fooling around with the antenna connection. "I can fix that!" he says.

Windy fixed it all right. He "stopped the show" for us, and Buzz Ellis had to come over and do a $20 repair job. I understand

Windy feels so bad, that he's paying the bill and has apologized to the Judge for acting so smart.

From where I sit, it pays to practice a little restraint whenever we get the urge to meddle. Whether it's television or a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of sparkling beer now and then—let's get a good clear "picture" of the real situation before we cause more harm than good.

"The Sun Comes Up" and your heart goes with it, at the Prince Theatre, Sunday-Monday for it's joyous entertainment in gorgeous technicolor from the famed author of "The Yearling", Marjorie Kinnan Rawlins, and the golden voice of Jeanette McDonald, singing six magnificent songs.

Claude Jarman Jr., Academy Award winner for his role in "The Yearling" is also starred, along with Lloyd Nolan, who, by the way, has his first romantic role. Lest we forget, the lovable and exceptionally intelligent canine Lassie is a very important part of the picture and Fred Stone, veteran actor of stage and screen, with Percy Kilbride, famed comedian, head the list of supporting players.

In the story, beautifully photographed in technicolor, catching all the wonderful beauty of the Santa Cruz mountains in California, Miss McDonald is seen as Helen Winter, a concert singer embittered by a double tragedy. She has lost her husband in the war and now she loses her young son when he is killed in an automobile accident. It is Lloyd Nolan and Claude Jarman, Jr., with the added help of Lassie, who restore her to love and happiness. You'll love it.

I'm a new man . . . I'm a poet boulder resting at the foot of the largest hemlock you ever saw . . .

upon this boulder is a bronze plaque bearing Joyce Kilmer's name
and the following inscription: "Here,
the civilization stops and nature takes over. We find the most magnificent forest of its kind in all America, standing as a tall and living monument. The sunlight gleams through the thick canopy
as though stained-glass windows in this, a natural cathedral for the quiet worship of things holy and eternal."

Reading that inscription in its natural surroundings will do things to you . . . in other words . . . if everyone were compelled to go to that spot to fill out his income tax return the financial structure of the entire nation would present a different picture.

Another trail leads from the boulder to Stratton Bald, the crest of the Unicoi Mountains . . . 5400 feet above sea level . . . we did not go up there because of our age and the fact it was getting late and no camp is permitted in the forest due to the fire hazard . . . if Sharron was a little older we would not have to confess our failure to make the top . . . I could have taken a stick and beat on her until she agreed to take the camera up and make a picture of the marker . . .

The memorial tract is supposed to be one of the few remaining examples of the great hardwood forests which, at on time, covered the slopes of the Appalachians . . .
it is maintained in its primitive and natural state . . . no live trees nor plants may be cut or removed
... no hunting nor fishing is allowed . . . this one spot is worth the trip up here.

We found a beautiful spot to camp on Lake Santaclah . . . it was about dark when we found it but we managed to pitch camp, eat and use up most of a bottle of rubbing alcohol before midnight.

Thursday morning I picked V.
C. off the side of a mountain on the other side of Robbinsville at a pre-arranged spot and the two of us set out for Andrews, N. C., and a Rotary makeup . . . we have been so busy ridin and rubber-neckin'
around that I have not had time to get down to the real purpose of this trip . . . I came up here to do some "go-gettem-fishin'" and saw good exhibition of it Thursday afternoon . . .

Fishin' off a bank is alright . . .
so is fishin' out of a boat . . . alright for people with bad feet . . .
what I want to try is goin after em in a mountain stream with a fly rod . . . Just to see what kind of an acrobat I am on those rocks in fast water . . . the man I was watching fell about once every four minutes . . . he showed that sort of thing went with fly fishin' . . .

but it was easy just the same . . .
it looked about as easy as rolling your own cigarette on a motorcycle going fifty . . . I am going to start my "go-gettem-fishin'"
just as soon as I find a mountain stream small enough and slow enough . . .

We broke camp early Friday morning and set out to see the great Fontana Dam . . . the largest largest of the Mississippi and the fourth largest in the world. It sure was a breath taking sight . . . we never saw so much concrete in our lives
... if Len and Claude Shirley could have gotten their hands on that much during the war they would have been back in Oskosh by now
... its almost as tall as the Washington Monument—is 376 feet thick at the base and has a two lane highway on top . . . having been no further up than the sidewalk past John Bolton's, in the last few years, we did not enjoy looking down from the top.

One half mile from the dam is Fontana Village . . . In 1941 there were twelve families living there
... today there are 1054 buildings on that mountain side . . . all built by your Uncle Sam . . . the sign sez—"Built For The People Of The United States" . . . for a reasonable fee you can rent anything from a studio cottage to a six room house—all furnished . . . plenty of trailer space—the Daniel Boones
and the Gipsies go to the back . . .
but even the camp sites are complete—they are in terraced rows—
each plot, about 25 feet square, contains benches, table, water
spigot, fireplace and firewood . . .
the toilets, showers and laundry
are all there and the camp ground overlooks the entire village.

If you arrive by car, you drive
up a paved street to your cottage.
If you arrive by bus, your Uncle has three Jeep station wagons to deliver you in . . . when it comes to sight seeing—no clumsy, busses—
you get to ride in a Buick Convertible . . . the fishing is perfect
... too perfect . . . the lake is kept stocked by your Uncle . . . everyone that goes comes in with the limit . . . when you pay your rent
you're paying a doctor, a police dept and a fire dept . . . no, there is nothing short about Samuel . . .
I would rather spend my vacation on Clematis Street (wherever that is) . . .

We retreated high up in the Nantahala National Forest over the weekend—far removed, from those red lines on the road map
and all of those Fourth-of-July Barney Oldfields . . . for three days
we ate blackberries and fish for breakfast . . . blackberries and fish
for dinner . . . and blackberries and something for supper . . . if another blackberry looks me in the eye he'll be a dead duck . . . I would have shot Wanna for serving that many berries but then I wouldn't have anyone to chop wood . . . I would have shot Sharron for pickin' em but then I wouldn't have anyone to keep the flies off my face while I snoozed
all day . . .

We are on the way to Tennessee and the Great Smokies . . . we will meet the Dentons again . . . V. C. has a pet fishin hole over there . . .

Christian Science Society

CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"LIFE" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday July 17.

The Golden Text is: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life" (I John 5:11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter," certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God" (324:13 The).

A bigger and better Florida State Fair for 1950 is in the making. Fair president Carl Brorein has appointed special committees of directors to develop better exhibits, finer attractions and work for general improvement.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a navy blue dress with white accessories including white hat, gloves and shoes. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

A&M College Head Quits Under Fire

TALLAHASSEE—Under fire from all directions, Dr. William H. Gray, Jr., president of Florida A&M College for Negroes, resigned his post stating he did so to "reduce to a minimum the growing factionalism" in the institution.

A total of 53 allegations have been made against the A & M College head. Charges made by individuals in affidavits and outlined to the board of control in private session and by investigators who have been looking into the case, allege a $15,000 shortage in extension funds of the college, improper use of state property, favoritism of certain students, failure to turn in money received that belonged to the state and many other charges.

Appearing before the board of control in its secret study of the case were State Auditor Bryan Willis, Assistant Attorney General James Toney, J. J. Elliott, special investigator for the Governor and State Representatives John W. Henderson of Tallahassee and B. G. Patton of Apalachicola.

In a statement following his resignation, Gray said, "I have not been guilty of any misconduct or dishonesty in administering the affairs of Florida A & M College."
